

LEEDS FRIDAY NOVEMBER 14 1969

STEP INTO PRATTS FOR HOME FURNISHING
 New side entrance Nutter Place
CHRISTOPHER PRATT & SONS LTD.
 North Parade, Bradford. Tel: 25894.

TROPHIES HELD by Susan Preston and Geoffrey Marson, head girl and head boy, are admired by Lady Tunbridge after the Malton Grammar School prizegiving yesterday. Mr. Philip Taylor, headmaster, also is in the picture.

Marriage, but careers too

LADY TUNBRIDGE yesterday urged the girl pupils of Malton Grammar School to "make use of all your training opportunities even if you do get married young."

At the school's prizegiving she said that a headmistress recently told her that some senior girls turned down university places they had gained so that they could marry instead.

"One hundred years of effort have gone into getting women full education and now they have equal pay and equal opportunities for work," added Lady Tunbridge, whose husband, Sir Donald, is Professor of Medicine at Leeds University.